“ John was one of the nicest and most generous men I have ever known. As a member of the Illini Racing pigeon club he was always there to support the club and help out. Myself and the members truly enjoyed his company. John raced his birds with us off and on over a 30 year time period. Until he retired his job kept him from the sport most of the time. The high light of his racing career was when he had a bird home the same day it was released from near Dallas, Texas. The bird flew over a 550-miles on the day he was released beating out many competitors (St. Louis) who never got a bird on the day and their birds had a 100-miles less to fly. We will all truly miss him.
